Our Frame

REHAU– the leading supplier of high-performance, polymer-based construction components provides the finest in polymer lineals for our custom construction. REHAU engineers window and door designs that enhance comfort and convenience, reduce energy costs and create healthy, safe environments while conserving resources.

REHAU delivers “Unlimited Polymer Solutions” and is the premium worldwide brand for polymer-based innovations with systems in construction, automotive manufacturing and industry. Strong development capabilities and synergistic efficiencies based on experience give the company its unique and respected presence worldwide.

Innovation Through Superior Glass Engineering

As with our frames, we at Minnkota Windows are proud to provide our customers the finest in glass as well.

Cardinal’s Endur spacer is an entirely new warmer edge stainless steel spacer, improving sightline temperature by 1-2 degrees and improving resistance to condensation. The corrugated shape adds strength. Bent corners – not notched or open joints – create a continuous impermeable metal barrier around the entire perimeter, keeping moisture out and argon in.

Minnkota Windows offers an all-climate glass which delivers excellent year-round performance. Or, the ultimate performance glass, which delivers the perfect balance of solar control and high-visibility with no room-darkening tints while providing the highest level of energy savings.

Whatever your preference, you can rest assured that Cardinal Glass Industries provides the most reliable and energy efficient glass systems in the industry.

Euro Series Windows and Doors

Nothing has more impact on the look of a house than its windows and doors. It has never been more true than with the Euro Series. The tilt-turn feature offers three-in-one performance. Closed, it has the look and performance of a fixed window. One turn of the handle allows it to tilt in from the top to provide ventilation while still providing security. One more turn allows for complete inward-opening. The perfect blend of performance and aesthetics.

The Euro Series Tilt & Slide is a premium door solution for spaces that do not allow for inswing doors. The unique sash design tilts and slides parallel to the fixed unit with the touch of a finger.
